STAR

FILL FOR YOURSELVES A TREASURE CHEST,
BUT NOT WITH GEMS AND GOLD.
FILL IT WITH MORE PRECIOUS THINGS,
AS FULL AS IT WILL HOLD.

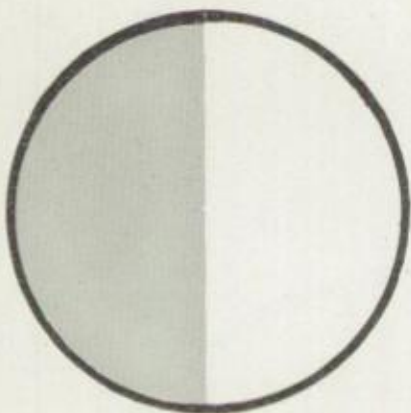

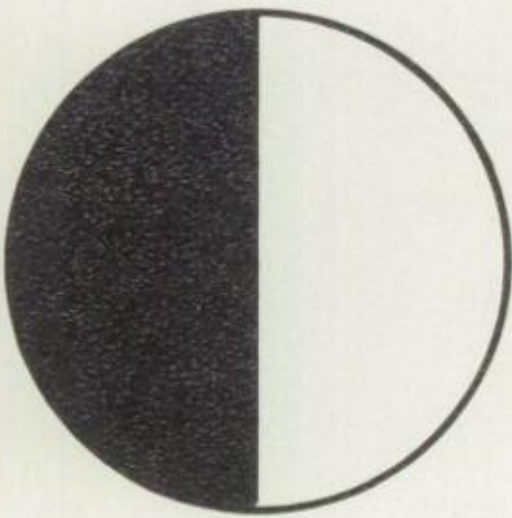

FOREWORD

Each year the Star provides a unique record of the events of that particular school term. This year the Star is presented as a treasure chest filled with memories and experiences each of you held dear during these past months.

What will each student remember? What will be forgotten? Important events will remain; those less important will slip out of memory. We hope that most of the important aspects of the year have been included, and that each of you will find your favorite memories as part of the treasure.

With these thoughts in mind, the Star Staff presents, for your pleasure, the 1962 STAR.

By Margery Bradford.

Government and various activities

A Spanish magazine intrigues Stella Blankenship, Jo Ann Spitzer, and Karelle Batterson.

Madeleine Hall is always a busy place. With the cooperation of the Resident Student Council, a fine balance is maintained between planned activity, responsible leadership, and study. Students come from as far away as Venezuela, Brazil, and Mexico, as also from points within the United States.

"Greyfriars Bobby" at the Broadway Theater is the destination of Annie Bodden, Robbie Adams, and Dineen Derby.

Thanksgiving banquet was an elegant affair

Special guests were Rev. Father Stuebben and lay members of the faculty, Miss Barbara Brown and Mrs. Mary Zenner, secretaries, Mrs. R. Somers, Miss Barbara Harwerth, Mrs. Irene Benainous. Out of camera range were Mrs. S. T. Greenburg, Miss Renee Sluder, Mrs. Edmund Cantu, and Mrs. Loretta Baron.

Happy banqueters, Linda Gray, Carmen Gallardo (apparently overcome by such splendor), Rosantina Valdez, and Cristina Gonzalez.

Cecilia Guerra, Beth McKeller, Mary Elsa Gonzalez, Sara Darilek, and Graciela Lozano wait for the second course.

Everyday living is filled with adventure

Francine Allwine finds a comfortable spot in the social hall for study.

Maridza Hernandez appreciates the automatic laundry equipment, a big time and labor saver.

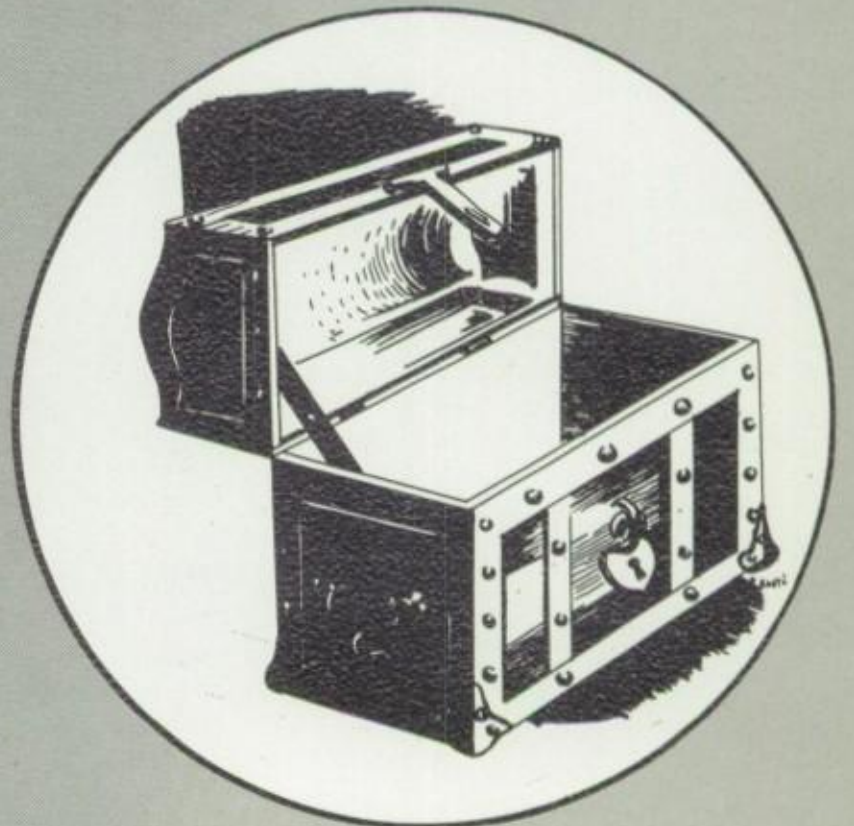

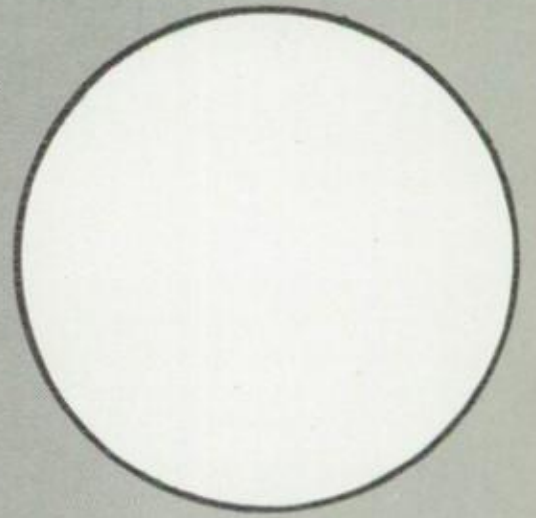

Garments modeled by a mannequin in the Home Ec. department attract Susan Chandoha, Beth McKellar, and Mary Catherine Burnett.

Elain Volkman and Becky Harding test the endurance of the cortesian diver in the Physics lab.

ACTIVITIES

Important Events

Officially opening the school year with the Mass of the Holy Spirit, Most Reverend S. A. Leven presented Our Lady as our model for this school term.

Mother Ildephonse confers the senior class ring upon Joe Guess, Student Council President.

Patricia Fulkerson receives the medal of the Sodality of Our Lady during consecration ceremonies from Rev. L. J. Stuebben in the school chapel on December 8.

Msgr. P. J. Murray spoke on the importance and the results of this consecration.

Reveal sources of hidden treasure

Sodalists Jane and Janet Zimmermann enjoy punch and cookies with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmermann of Seguin, Texas.

Friends and relatives of sodalists gathered in the lobby following the ceremony of consecration in the chapel.

At Home And Abroad We Aimed At Excellence

Sister Margaret Rose and Mary McGuire admire two winning entries in the Thanksgiving theme table center contest.

Sisters assemble to wish Mother Ildephonse "Bon Voyage" as she departs for New Orleans to attend a meeting of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. L. to R. Sr. Margaret Helene, Sr. Brendan Marie, Mother Ildephonse, Sr. Patrick Ignatius, Sr. Anthelma, Sr. Mary of Perpetual Help, and Sr. Adrian Francis.

Judy Gatti gets "the perfect assist" from Father L. J. Stuebben as she ties on luggage before leaving for the international convention of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in Dallas. Sisters M. Joan and Innocentia, Maria Teresa Flores, Helen Holder, and Mary Des Rochers also attended the convention.

Annilou Leonard, Mary McGuire, Kay Bragg, Pam Patterson, and Sharon Johnson attended the Summer School of Catholic Action in Dallas, during August.

We learned about social justice

Mr. James E. Taylor, former college professor, addressed the seniors on racial problems.

Father Sherrill Smith, in charge of socio-economic relations for the Archdiocese of San Antonio, stressed the concern of the Church for social justice.

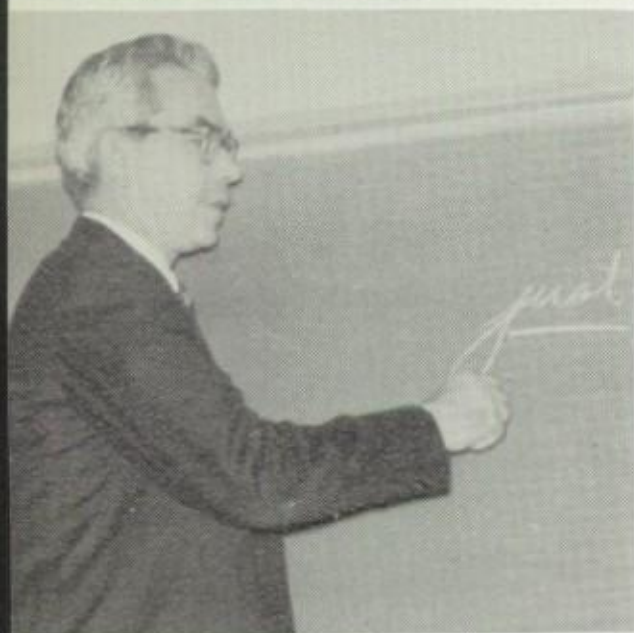

Father John Wagner, Archdiocesan director for migrant workers, talked about the problems encountered by these people.

Mr. E. Coffey, Archdiocesan President of St. Vincent de Paul Society, gave a breakdown of the functions of this society.

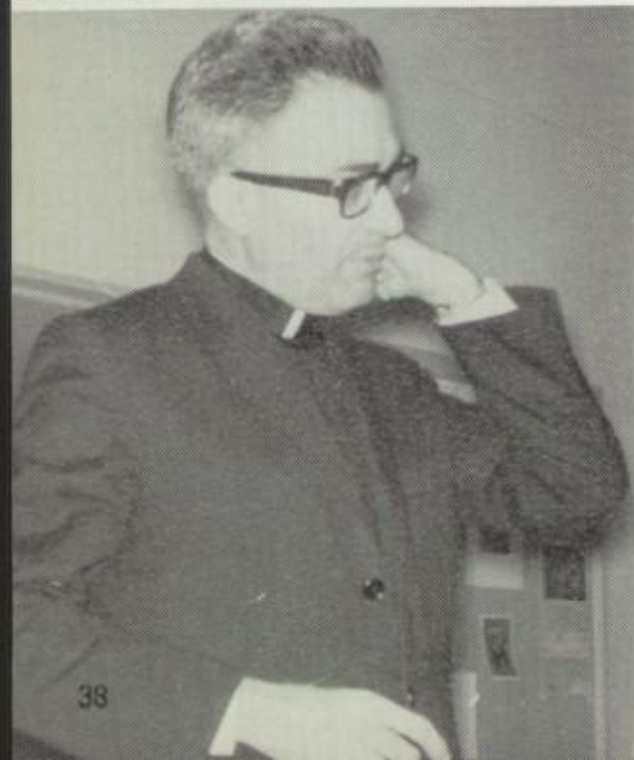

Mr. Dick Meskill, associate editor of the Alamo Messenger, pictured the involvement of Catholics in social life.

Miss Conchita Barro, a student from Cuba, told how the Church suffered as a result of the apathy of so many of its members in her country.

Father Carlos Quintana, editor of La Voz, largest Spanish Catholic paper in the United States, explained the setting up of the St. Vincent de Paul Society in S. America.

Mr. Thomas Pape, connected with the foreign service of the United States, emphasized the importance of careful selection for this service.

We sought integrity and accepted responsibility

Margery Bradford was a hostess at the Texas Catholic Journalists' Workshop. She confers with Mr. Don Weitinger, a speaker for whose session she acted as chairman.

Fathers Carl Schwartz and A. Billimek, CSSR, who conducted the students' retreat, settle some theological difficulties for Cristina Gonzales, Annie Bodden and Joann Spitzer.

Ludmilla Hamilton, was elected Texas State Treasurer of the Junior Classical League at the annual convention in San Angelo.

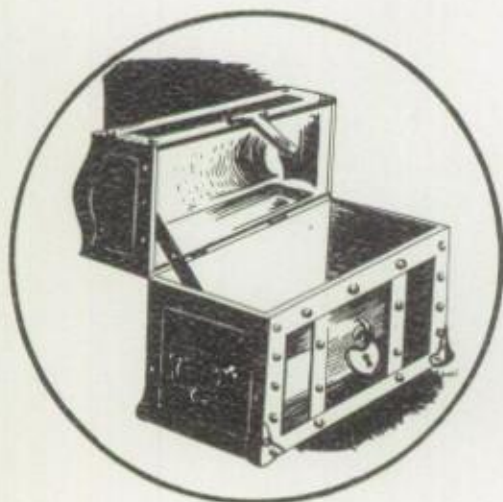

The Choraliers, conducted by Sister Bernarda, took part in the Music Festival at Incarnate Word College.

WE EMPHASIZE THE SPIRITUAL AND INTELLECTUAL

Most Rev. Bishop S. A. Leven celebrates Mass of the Holy Spirit at the opening of the school term.

All phases of intellectual activity are designed to help us develop into wholesome integrated personalities. In this development Religion is our chief asset, since it gives us a correct appreciation of spiritual and material values, and provides a norm and basis for all the interrelated aspects of academic, social, cultural, and physical action.

By means of ear phones this class is listening to a tape recording concerning the life and work of Dr. Thomas Dooley.

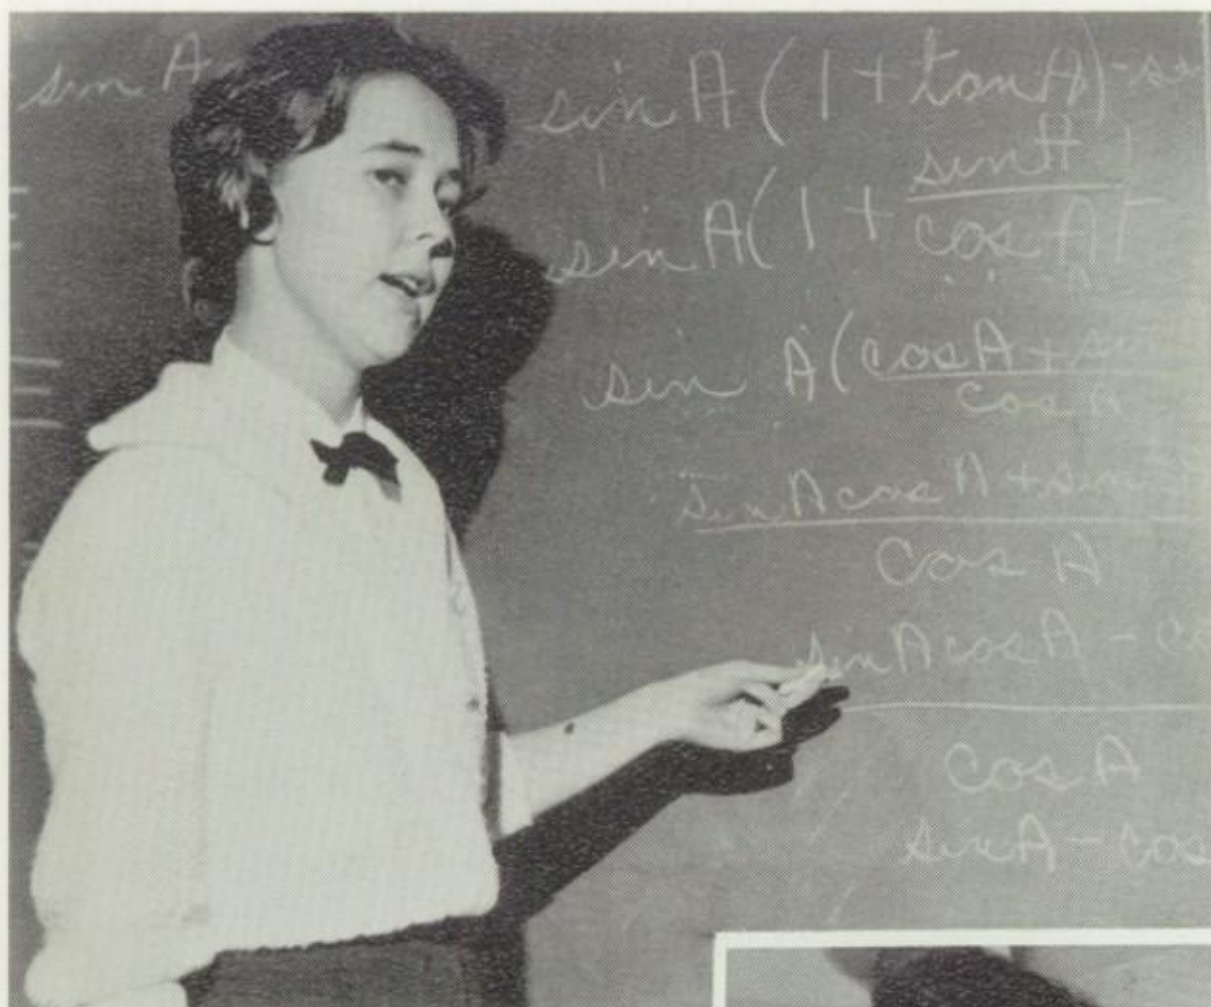

As a feature of Religious instruction, students in Sister Evangeline's Freshmen class conduct round table discussions on social and moral problems.

From a portable altar in the center of the gymnasium Father Lawrence Stuebben distributes Holy Communion during a first Friday Mass.

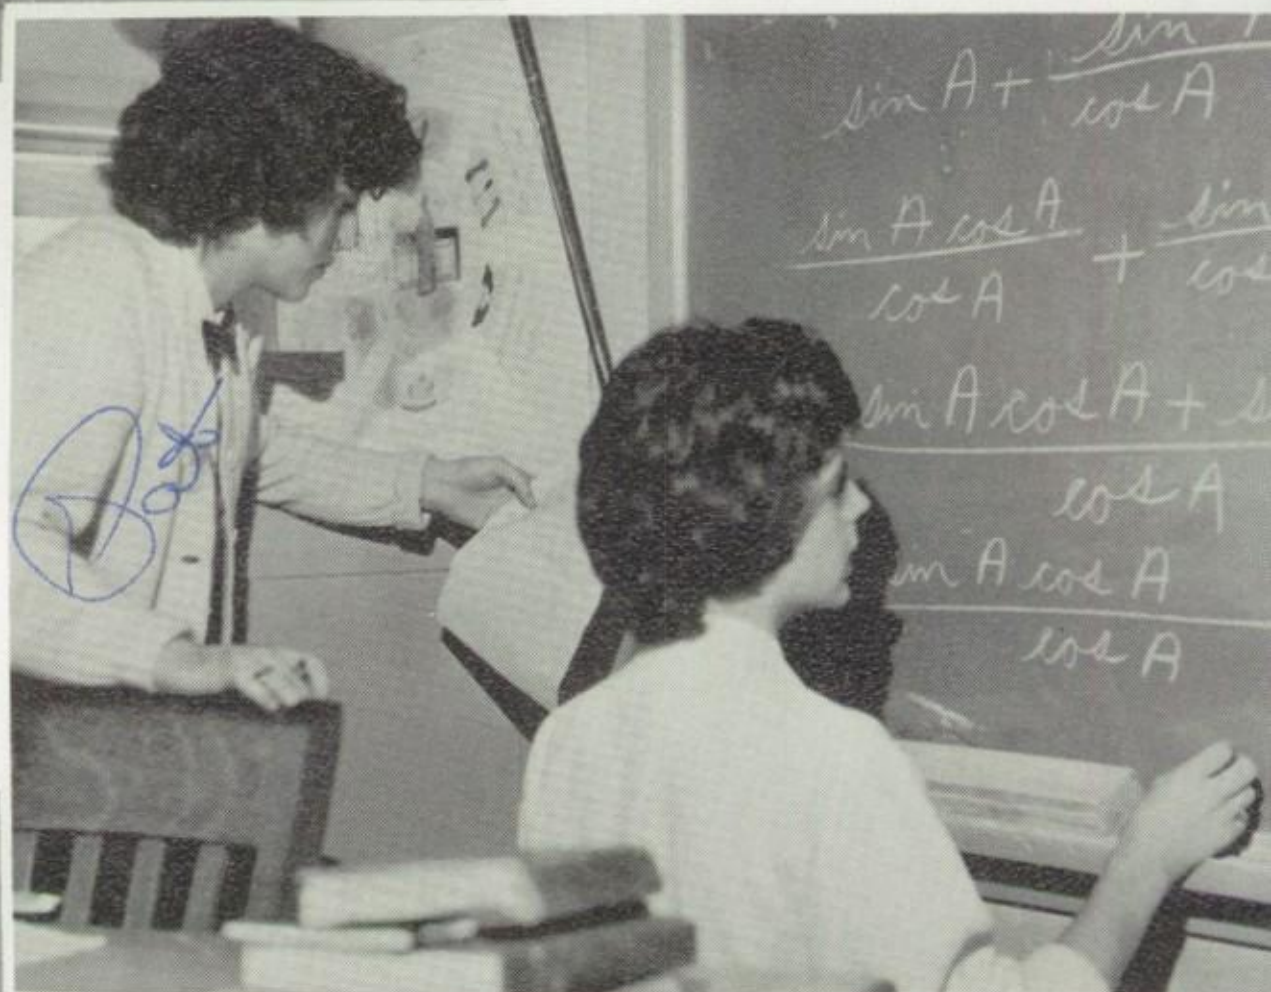

We confidently faced the challenge of MAT

"Now, sit up and pay attention. I am not going to explain this again," Regina Gona tells her classmates in Trigonometry.

"Where did I go wrong?". Pat Albrecht checks her paper with Joan Guess's work on the board.

"What's cookin'?" Sally Kilby and Diana Doria compare Susan Roy's results with theirs in testing the properties of acids.

nd SCIENCE

Math and Science proved a real challenge.

Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Analytics, and Modern Math kept us hopping.

We struggled with formulae, test tubes, burners, chemicals, and microscopes. We were almost overcome by friction, heat, energy, light, valence and inertia.

But we hung on to the bitter end, determined to make a name for ourselves and our posterity in the realm of science.

"Sister, I finally got crystals", says Marie Coe to her Chemistry teacher, Sister Mary Joan.

Kathryn Austin and Joan Guess measure the coefficient of friction.

With a skeptical eye on the test tube, Marie Coe wonders whether that is really a precipitate that she has discovered.

Art makes LANGUAGE come alive

Gwen Daniels, Jeanette Bergman, and Bernadette Gleitz are proud of the book reports prepared by the freshman English class.

Using only water colors, Rosetta Sams painted thirty illustrations of characters in Chaucer's 'Canterbury Tales'. Janie Perez and Sharon Skruhak stop a moment to watch Rosetta at work.

Underclassmen, Robbie Adams and Beth McKellar, with an unidentified visitor, admire Rosetta's illustrations.

This class is mastering the Spanish language under the able direction of Sister Evangeline.

*Virginio, Have a nice vacation and May God bless you always. Sr. Evangeline
E.C.V.I.*

With the aid of Mrs. Irene Benainous, instructor in French, Kathy Heflin learns a Christmas hymn in French.

Stella Bauknight, whose chief delight is translating modern songs into Latin, gives Ginny Bastian a few tips on how it is done. Stella and Ginny are second year Latin students.

SOCIAL SCIENCE classes studied on

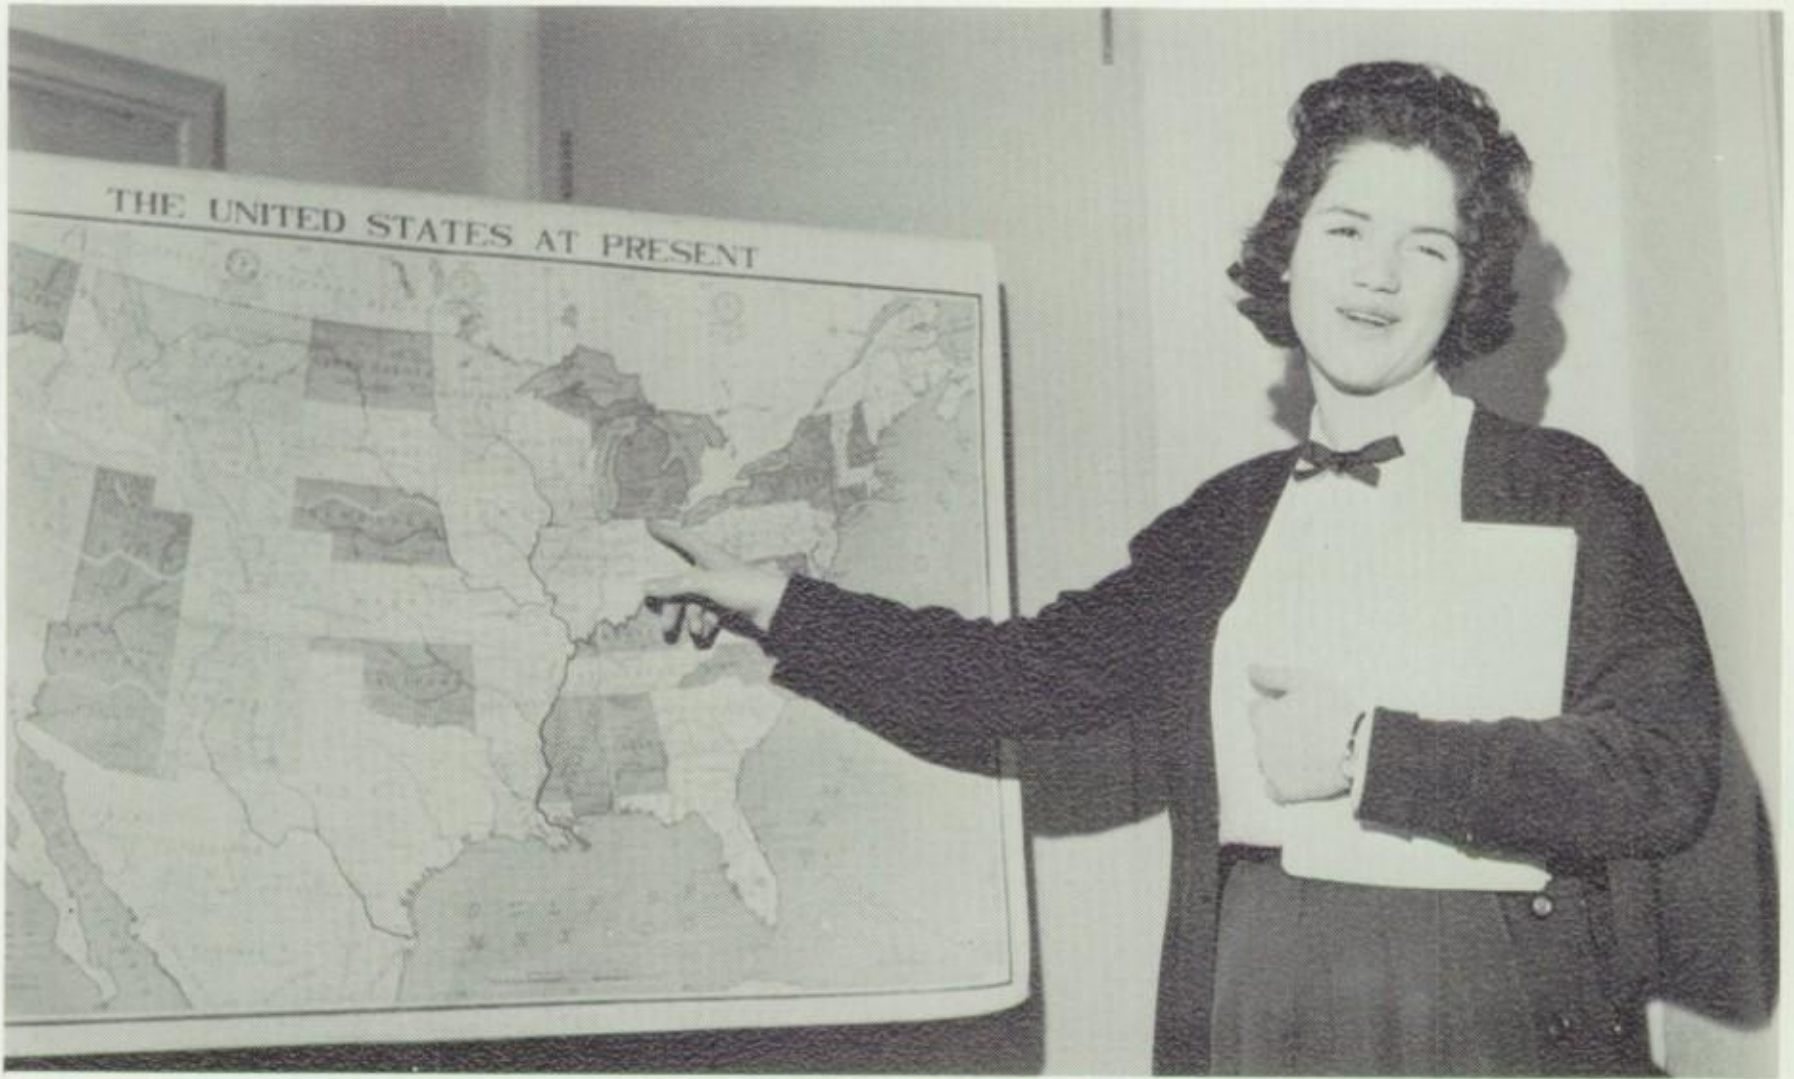

Mrs. Susan Greenburg tests recordings for use in her Civil Government classes. Sister Clarencia, librarian, reviewing material for the English classes, is momentarily distracted by a banging window.

Barbara Clelland, a new student at mid-term, is being set right in Social Science by Mrs. Susan Greenburg. The diligent girls in the rear are Pat Fulkerson, Jane Rex, and Mary Gray.

Western civilization through Great Books

Phyllis Coindreau uses the map of the United States to clinch her argument about the activities of the Republican Party.

Future Democrats and Republicans prepare for participation in good citizenship.

HOME EC. prove

"When we get these belts on we'll look just like Jacqueline Kennedy", asserts Warrie Lynn Smith. Joanne Geyne seems a little doubtful.

The Home Ec. classes tried their hand at every type of sewing, even altar boy cassocks. Betty Jean Glass gets help from Sister Margaret Rose in measuring sleeve lengths on the cassock she made.

Elizabeth Blankenship believes that good home economics making calls for cooperation. She proves her belief by helping Terry Alvarez adjust a dress pattern.

Sister Mary Mercy and Ann handoha find the Home Ec. exhibit tractive.

Below three girls model dresses they made in class under the direction of Sister Margaret Rose.

Warrie Lynn Smith chose a light weight green and gold wool plaid, blouson style.

Paulette Rutledge's choice was a one piece wool fuschia informal.

Donna Goodrich is wearing a forest green dress of wool jersey, with an unusual drape effect bodice.

We excelled

Having shattered world records in design and needle technique during the first semester, we devoted our time and talent to kitchen kapers during the second; and we did not succeed in breaking all previous gourmet records they were at least bad bent.

In addition to the art of concocting meals, we conquered the art of cleaning, and managed to keep the culinary department in spick and span order.

Our parents are indebted to us for the money we saved them on food and clothing; and Incarnate Word chapel is the richer by several cassocks, products of our unflagging energy.

Basting baked apples is serious business for Anne Scholl and M'Liss Harrison. Patricia Salas is evidently concerned also about the outcome of this venture into culinary art.

NOTHING CAN BEAT THIS 'GOOD OLE HOME COOKIN'. Joanne Geyne, Mary Isabel Berchermann, Rosalia Pena, Leticia Ponce, Mireya Ponce, and Patricia Salas are having a feast on their own cooking.

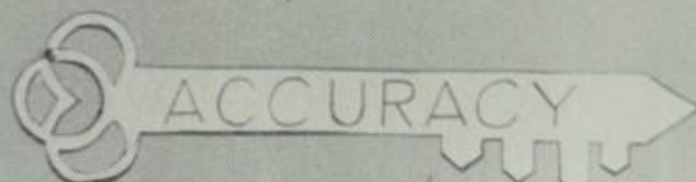

PRACTICAL ARTS

Top students in typing vied with one another for a place on the speed and accuracy chart.

Art designs worked out on the typewriter attracted attention. Juniors Lucille Quinones and Elizabeth Werner enjoy the unusualness of this display.

FINE ARTS - an outlet for self-expression

Artist Warrie Lynn Smith works on a study in still life.

This type of commercial art is a favorite with the girls. The above is the work of Julie French.

Pianist Mary Jo Stateson accompanies choral groups on special occasions.

Freshmen choral groups combine to present the Christmas Story in song and drama. With the Nativity tableau in the background, Toni Buchert conducts the rendition of "Christ is Born". Wanda Moody is at the piano.

Mrs. Edmund Cantu, assisted by Luisa Sanchez, exhibits some of her students' work.

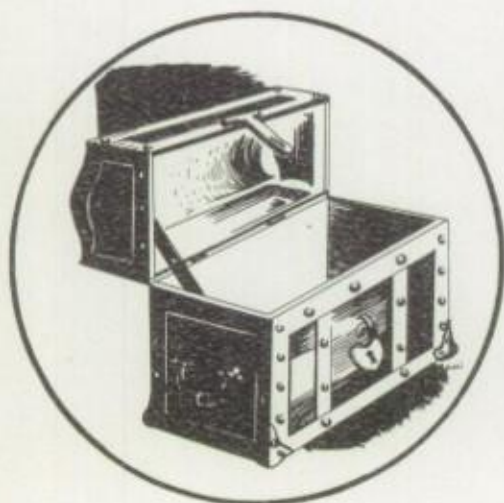

Penny Speier, southpaw artist, is an expert in charcoal sketching.

WE DEVELOP FINE SPORTSMANSHIP BY COURTES

Physical Education holds a prominent place in our curriculum. We train our muscles in physical exercise; learn ping pong, tennis, shuffle board, archery, and even touch football on occasion.

Volleyball and basketball teams compete in intramural and inter-scholastic games sponsored by the CYO. This year the teams proved their mettle and displayed fine sportsmanship.

Early in the season the Shamrocks began a winning streak which continued to a final chalk-up of ten wins and four losses. Pitted against St. Teresa's the Shamrocks took the City title in the first two games, and went on to down the might Schulenburg team for the CYO district championship.

This was the second year that the volleyball team competed in the CYO league games. Credit for their success goes to team spirit, and Miss Barbara Harwerth's coaching.

THIS IS HOW IT BEGINS: "Too much like work". Suzel Camps isn't too enthusiastic about that volleyball to which Coach Harwerth is trying to introduce her.

Shamrocks copped CYO district championship

Rosemary Denson goes up to take a spike from a St. Teresa player; but the net got it instead.

Anita Narvarte and Kathy Burkholder make trouble for Schulenburg's No. 17 in the first game of the basketball season.

A desperate moment, with a Shamrock down and the ball escaping.

"Pass it over here, Anita", signals Donna Goodrich to Anita Narvarte, as three opponents move in for the kill.

"Stop pushin', will ya!"

"Oh-o No-o-o! They didn't sink a basket!" wail Rosemary Denson and team. The fact is, though, "they did!"

from Hallettsville

"Get that ball, Shamrocks!" Forest High players find the going rough as the Shamrocks close in.

"Where did that ball go?"

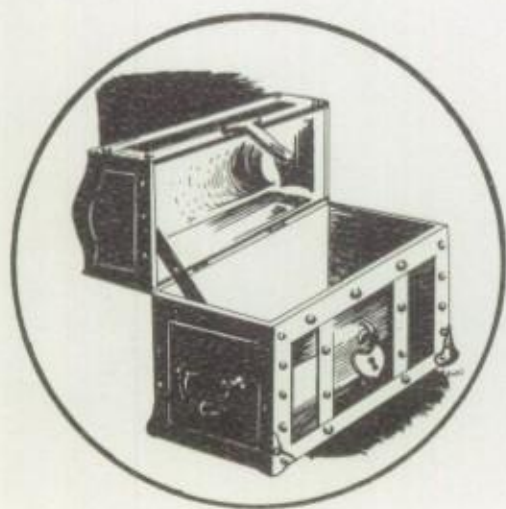

This year the Shamrocks made history. Never before had the same school capped both volleyball and basketball titles in the Archdiocesan Catholic Youth Organization tourneys. Holding the trophies are, Donna Goodrich, basketball capt., Blanca Escudero, and Rosemary Denson, volleyball captain.

WE FOCUS ON HARMONY IN SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

Hortensia Trevino as the Queen of the United States Marines at the International Black and White Ball.

Four special social events are held annually. The junior sports dance occurs in November, the Student Council semi formal, in December, and the Winter Frolic, arranged by the Mothers' Club, in January.

We also take part in parish socials, Catholic Youth Organization activities, Teena Texas contests, and the Black and White International Ball, designed to foster good relations between the United States and Mexico.

Mary Isabel Berchermann takes a bow at the International Black and White Ball. Mary Isabel, as a princess, represented her native state of Coahuila, Mexico.

THE SNOWFLAKE BALL

Over two hundred couples enjoyed the music of Larry Herman's orchestra at the annual Winter Frolic, arranged by the Mothers' Club, held this year for the first time at the Marian Hall ballroom of Incarnate Word College.

Soft lights, a decor of tiny snowflakes, dancing snowflake mobiles and a giant snowman provided a winter wonderland background.

Mr. Maurice W. Rex, as emcee, and Mrs. Rex, as general chairman, were in charge of festivities. They were assisted by a refreshment committee and a contingent of parent chaperones.

Jacquie Creamer emerged victorious from the contest for queen. Three candidates from each class were elected by the students. Winners were announced at the festival.

Her Majesty, Queen Jacqueline of the House of Creamer, is crowned by her escort, David Clark.

Nominees for duchess, with their escorts are: Mary Ann Intermont and Alan Hamlin; Jeannie Navarro and Lt. Ray Penley; Judy O'Neill and Pat McCann; Katy Kopecky and Bob Franza; Carol Christians and Paul Granato.

Local scholastic and service clubs are also sponsored by the school.

Volunteers served in Santa Rosa Hospital

Service organizations, the Rosettes and the Maizies, receive volunteers from several schools in San Antonio.

This year ten IWHS girls gave unstinted service to the Maizies, a group of helpers in the Santa Rosa Children's Hospital.

The Rosettes, a service unit attached to the Santa Rosa General Hospital, attracted ten also from the rank of IWHS.

Tina Peters and Joann Spitzer, having arranged the paperbacks for Catholic Book Week, decide on the ones they want to purchase.

Carol Cerwin, Teresa Chavarria, and Mary Des Rochers admire the result of their efforts.

Service clubs are designed to function within specific areas in the school. The Library and the Science clubs assist with the organization and distribution of equipment in the library and the Science department respectively.

Science Club officers, Kathryn Austin, Mary Louise Newell, and Mary Des Rochers go a-fishin' for a frog, while Miss Renee Sluder gives moral support.

"I think we have the problem licked. We'll write an editorial about READING editorials." Diana Hughes, editor, confers with managing editors, Kathryn Austin and Sally Kilby.

"Just look at this. They said we didn't have enough division pages." Editors, Margery Bradford and Diana Hughes review critical rating sheets.

This is serious. The deadline was yesterday. Dede Gretser, Sharon Julian, Mary Jean McMahan, Kay Bragg, and Carol Jeannin could use a 48 hour day just before THE STAR deadlines.

nd our most important organizations

When important occasions call for beautiful table arrangements the Mothers' Club is always at hand. This is the table on Open House Day in November.

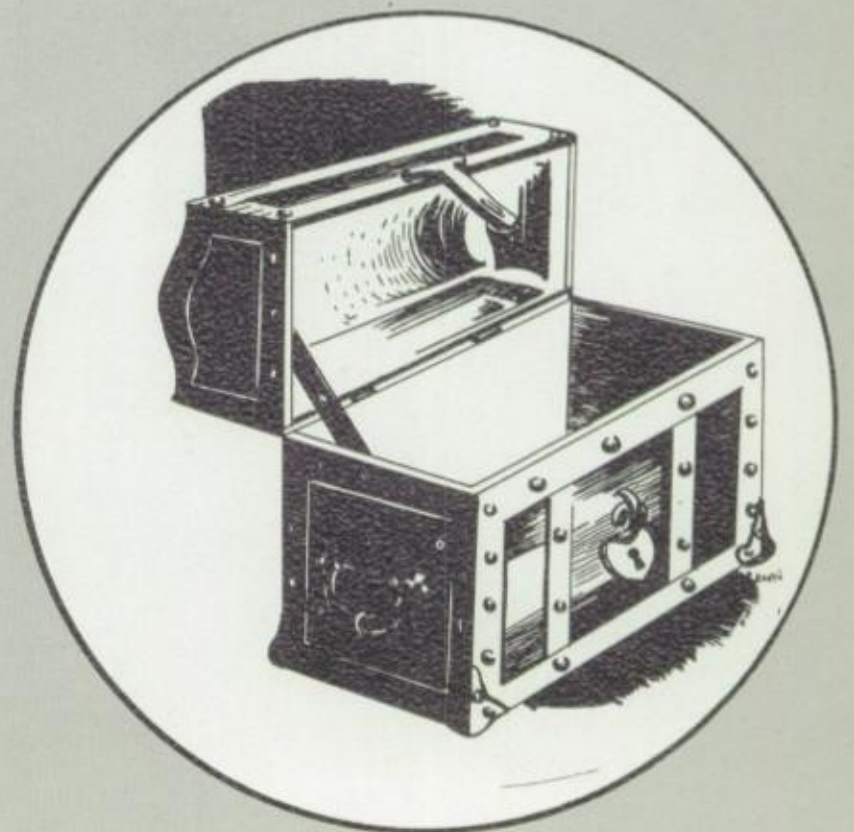

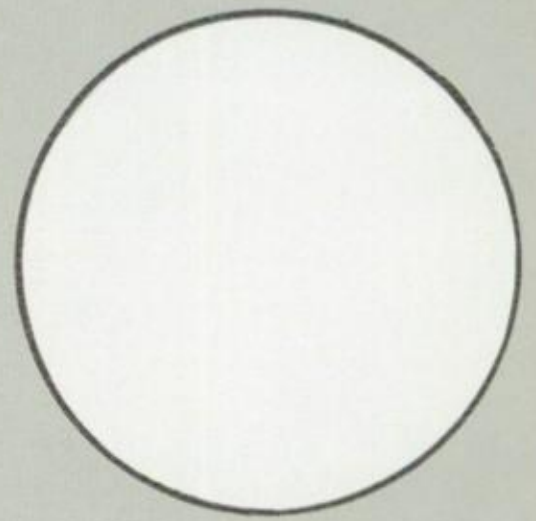

Our Mothers' Club works hand in hand with the Sisters to provide every opportunity for us to obtain an excellent education. Under the direction of Father L. J. Stuebben they provide an extra Mass in the Chapel twice a week, and also on First Fridays. They sponsor a fall benefit festival, the Winter Frolic, and other functions as occasion demands.

Mrs. H. Werner, homeroom mother, assists Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Menton to locate their daughter Leta's project in Social Science.

In the early hours of an October morning, the Sisters assemble to take part in the blessing of their new car by Father L. J. Stuebben

WE VALUE AWARDS AS AN INCENTIVE TO EFFORT

Three medal winners in the National APSL Latin Examinations, Sylvia Reyes, Francine Canales, and Linda Brown secured this trophy for the school.

In National Examinations, as well as in state, district, and local contests, Incarnate Word students won recognition for scholastic ability.

Trophies, medals, certificates, blue, red, and yellow ribbons found their way into our trophy case, or remained the property of those who had earned them.

We achieve recognition through scholarship

Daralyn McNew and Cheryl McMullan, National Merit Scholarship finalists, receive certificates and congratulations from Mother Ildephonse.

Margery Bradford is attached to those awards of Distinction and Honor earned by the yearbook and the school paper at the Texas Catholic Journalists' Workshop.

Winners of the gold, silver, and bronze medals, respectively, in the American Legion Oratory contest, were Margaret Brewer, Daralyn McNew and Pat Eisenhower. Congratulating Margaret is Colonel Joe Starkey, While Colonel Milo Barragan and General Ike Spaulding look on.

We successfully competed in Music, Poetry

Loy Dwyer and Mary Jane Kermenek earned a rating of "Excellent" for piano at the IWC music festival. Miss Pat Lynch is assisting in distributing awards.

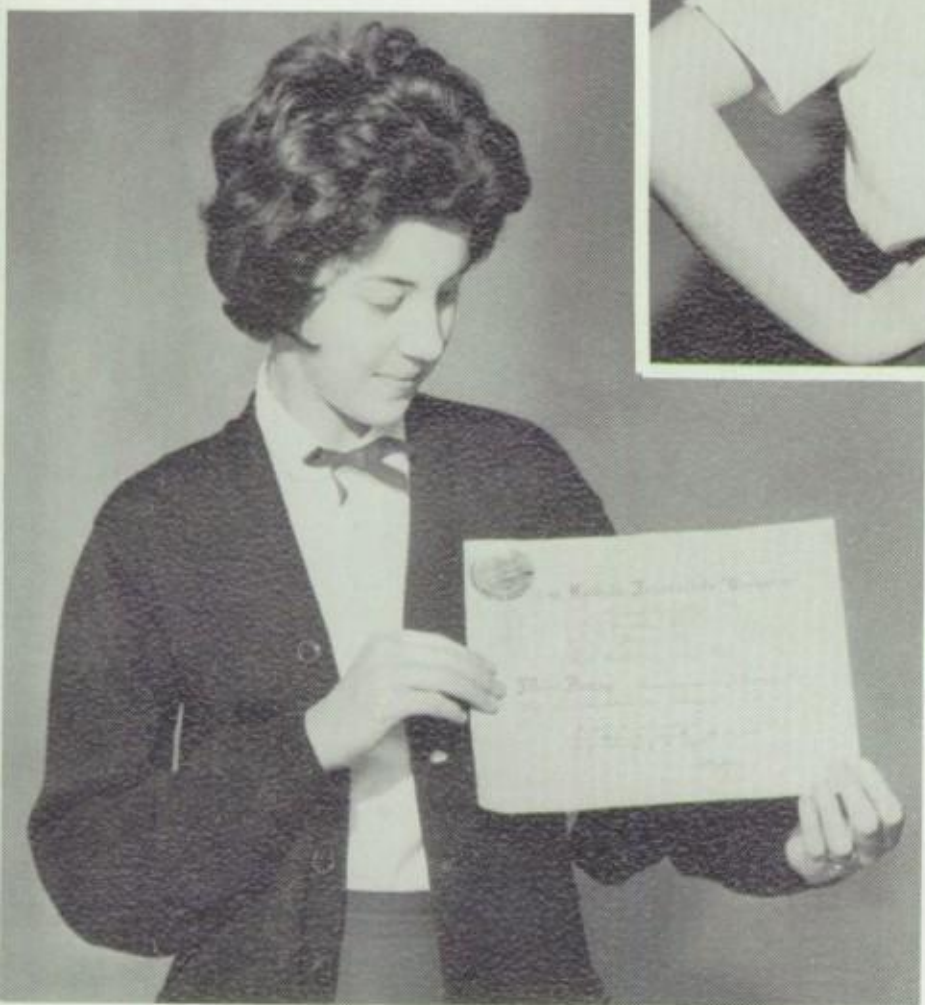

Honor rating went to Cathy Gray and Mary Elizabeth Terry in piano.

Carolyn Jamail and Mary Jo Stateson received "Excellent" rating for piano solos.

The Choraliers were rated "Excellent" also.

In the Hallmark Art Contest, sponsored by the American Women's Federation, Joanne DeGasperi's entry, "Equal Opportunity", was selected to go to the state. Six students from Incarnate Word competed. Here Joanne is looking at Penny Speier's "Progress", and wondering why it did not also rate an award.

Pat Eisenhower won an honor award for her poem, "Treasures", at the Texas Catholic Journalists' Meet.

The Choraliers sang "Praise O Praise", "Staines Morris", and "Climb Every Mountain". Sr. Bernarda trained and directed this group, consisting of sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Annie Bodden (below), Julee French and Rosemary Denson (right) won Facit achievement medals for speed and accuracy in typing.

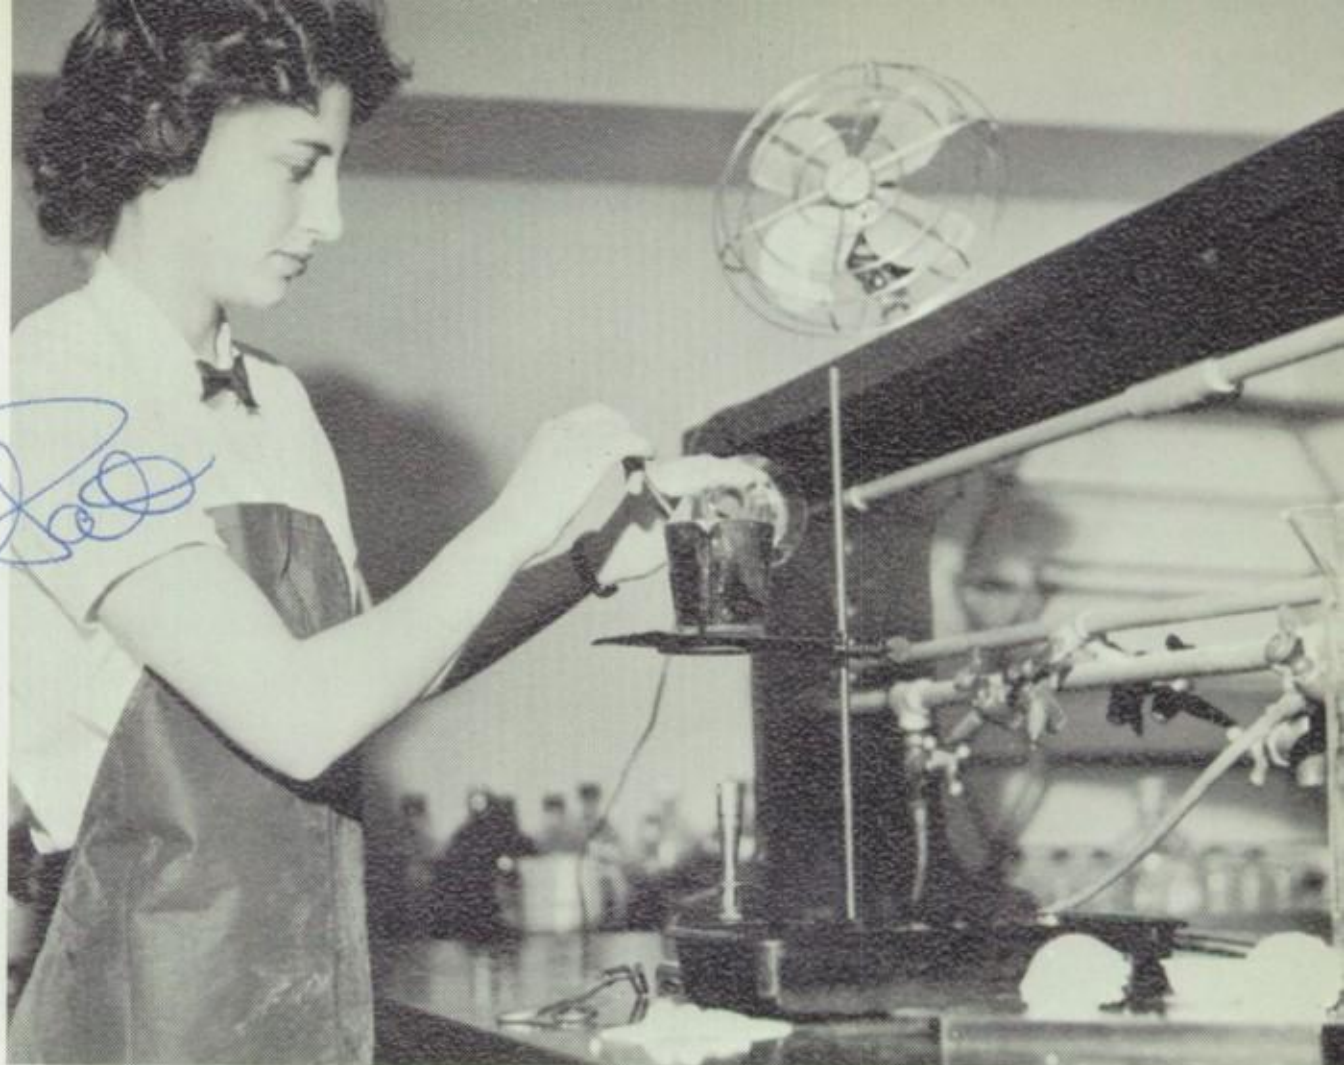

Julee French and Rosemary Denson's typing record rendered them eligible to compete in the Catholic Business Educators Association contest. Julee took first place in the state by typing over fifty words a minute for five minutes without an error.

Susan Willet and Dede Gretser qualified for CBEA contests in Stenography. Susan won second place in Christian Principles.

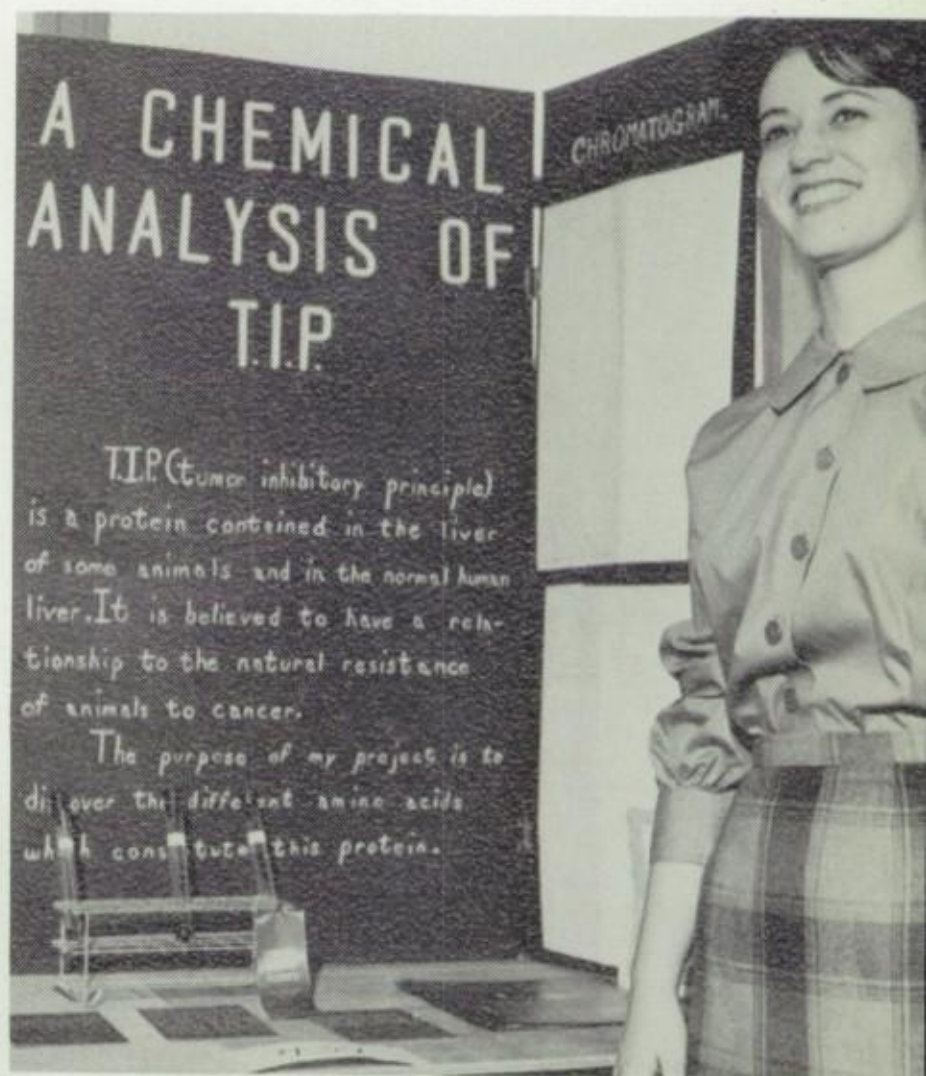

Louise Schoch shows off the Certificate of Honor awarded the school paper by the national TB Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

For her experiments in using sulphur as a base for plastic, Pat Albrecht was interviewed by a member of the Science Research Laboratories, and informed that only three other scientists in the world are working on the same project. Pat also gained national recognition for the solution of a Math problem appearing in "School Science and Mathematics" magazine. Only one other student in the United States submitted the correct solution.

At the Alamo District Science Fair, the Bexar County Cancer Society awarded Arlene Patterson, junior, first place for her chemical analysis of TUMOR INHIBITORY PRINCIPLE.

Daralyn McNew, top winner in the Betty Crocker contest.

Mary S. Sullivan rated second place for her exhibit.

As we face our Future

The "plotters" who planned the Prom are: Lynn Galbreath, Chara Johnstone, Sandie Garan, and Arlene Patterson.

With "Younger than Springtime" theme, and the music of Bobby Brown and the Skyliners, the prom royalty were: Nancy Wood, queen; Sharon Johnson, princess; and Mary Lou Heflin, duchess.

Victoria Garcia, Margery Bradford, and Kathleen Dowdy get set for graduation exercises in the Sunken Garden Theater at Brackenridge Park.

TREASURE CHEST

To illustrate his lecture on Laos, Father Matt Menger, OMI, missionary in Laos, had Joan Dusard, Ruth Menger, and Madeline Williams demonstrate native clothing, Vietnamese, Laotian, and Chinese. Father Menger, a former resident of San Antonio, was lecturing on behalf of his missions.

Susan Osterhaus, Francine Canales, Linda Brown, and Rita Bordano were guests at the San Antonio Classical Society meeting in March, and had a chance to speak with Mr. Sam J. Shippen, president of the Society.

Dr. T. S. Greenburg, president of Incarnate Word College, explains political theories to Civil Government students.

Miss Barbara Wendel, student nurse at Incarnate Word College Nursing Division, addressed a group on Career Day.
